E. Rich, Walter Lewis and Ell A were among the protestants. They protested against permittracks on South Temple street up to Fifth West street, and also against permitting any more tracks on the North Temple street viaduct unless the Oregon Short Line company is compelled to widen it to permit of the safe possage of vehicles without compelling them to drive on the street car tracks, in the event that the Saimir company is permitted to lay tracks on South Temple street the west siders want the company to pave that street and also construct a conduit over the ditches along it. The committee will have another meeting in a few days and put the various propositions suggested by the protestants up to the company officials for them to consider, after which further action will be taken on the franchise.

Playground in Pioneer.

The public grounds and waterways committee, at its meeting Thursday hight, decided to recommend the granting of the petition of the Public Playgrounds association asking that a portion of Plobest park he set aside as a public playground, the park commission to designate the portion of the park to be used for that purpose, and also the improvements needed to carry out the plan for the playground. The same committee will report fivor-ments needed to carry out the plan for the playground. The same committee will report invortion upon the application of W. M. Harmon and H. S. Margetts for a lease on the gravel pit east of the Warm Springs. The petitioners offer $500 a year for a lease on 200 feet of the pit and agree to put up a bond of $1000. The engineer will set the stakes bounding the truet tassed. The work will be done under the supervision of the park commission, with a view to urilizing the ground for park purposes after the lease is terminated. Strange & Maguire will be permitted in locate their asphalt plant on Fourth North street between East Capitol and West Canyon streets for a torm of one year, if the recommendation of the streets committee is followed.

The same committee decided to report tavorably upon the petition of residents for a footbridge over the Ninth South street canal at First West street, to cost $15.

Seeks License Revocation.

The license committee took up the petition of S. H. Auerbach that the saloon license of Patrick Kennedy at 227-229 South State street be revoked for violations of the city ordinance, but decided to defer action until the case pending in court between the parties is determined as the matter of a violation of the ordinance will be one of the points at issue in that case.

The sanitary and markets committee asked that a new potition be filed designating at what corners it is desired to have the farmers stand with their produce. As soon as the new petition is filed the committee again will consider the matter.

City Engineer McGonagle submitted a number of bids for the dredge, which the city proposes to buy, to the engineering and sewerage committee, but the committee decided to submit the bids to the council Monday night.

A petition has been filed with the city recorder, to be submitted to the council, asking that a franchise be granted to the triah Light and Railway company to extend its Second West street car line from Ninth to Tenth South street. The petition is signed by a large number of residents along that street, and states that the company already has agreed to extend the line if the council will grant the petition.

eprly in the day, and a lot more were ordered. These, too, went the way of the first lot—on the coat lapels of young men, old men, women and girls. The tags bore the legend on the one side:

"I shop carly on Saturday, do you?"
On the reverse side was the appeal:
"Hease shop early on Saturday and help the clerks."
The committee having in charge the decorating of the pedestrians included the Misses Boyd. Morgan, Kimball, Palmer, Reld. Knowlden and Busby.
At noon Mrs. L. Andrews of Walker Bros.' department store headed a large number of saleswomen who, in the lunch hour, assisted in the work.
The result of the day's campaign was that practically everybody who was tempted out by the beauty of the day carried a tag.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR ARTHUR BROWN

Likely That Charge of Forgery Against Him Will Be Dismissed.

DEFECT IN INFORMATION FATAL TO STATE'S CASE

Name of Commercial National Bank Incorrectly Stated in Preparation of Complaint.

From all indications the case agains Arthur Brown, charged with forgery and uttering forged instruments, will be dismissed by Judge Lewis of the district court Friday morning. After getting a jury and placing one witness on the stand, District Attorney Loofon the stand, District Attorney Loof-bourow discovered a fatal defect in the information against Brown and asked leave to amend. The court refused the request and the district attorney proceeded to examine the witness.

Mr. Loofbourow undertook to introduce in evidence the charter of the Commercial National bank, which issued the certificates of deposit which it is alleged Brown forged, but Judge O. W. Powers, on behalf of the defense, objected to the introduction of the charter and Judge Lewis indicated that he would sustain the objection unless the district attorney could produce some authorities by morning that would show the charter could be introduced in evidence under the information as it now reads. With the sustaining of the objection the district attorney will have to dismiss the case.

Mr. Loofbourow undertook to introduce in evidence the charter of the Commercial National bank out of several certificates of deposit which it is alleged Brown forged, but Judge O. W. Powers, on behalf of the defense, objected to the introduction of the charter authorities by morning that would sustain the objection unless the district attorney could produce some authorities by morning that would show the charter could be introduced in evidence under the information as it now reads. With the sustaining of the objection the district attorney will have to dismiss the case.

Brown is charged with forging the mame of A. M. Bartholdi to several certificates of deposit on the Commercial National bank and with cashing them at the bank, where he had been employed for some time. In the information it is charged that he forged the name of Bartholdi with intent to cheat and defraud the Commercial National bank out of certain money. When the charter of the bank was procured and offered in evidence it was found that the correct name of the bank was the "Commercial National Bank of Salt Lake City, Utah." Because of the failure of the information to allege the correct name of the bank was the "Commercial National Bank of Salt Lake City, Utah." Cannot Be Tried Again.

Inasmuch as a plea was entered to the information in its present form, a jury secured and a witness sworn and partially examined, there can be no further prosecution of this particular charge if the case is dismissed by Judge Lewis. So it appears that Brown will escape punishment.

Brown was convicted of forgery some time ago for signing the name of J. C. Orem, his former employer, to checks amounting to about $15,000, but the supreme court granted him a new trial. He was again tried and convicted and his attorneys then undertook to prove that he was insanc, but the jury found otherwise.
